Lyin' here with my head on my shoulder
That used to be my place to dream
Now it only makes the cold nights colder
I'm afraid of what our future brings

Holding you is like holding a stranger
We becoming strangers and girl it's killing me
You ask me to believe that it's not over
But how can I believe in you when you be leaving me

Anymore when you tell me you love me
Somewhat it just don't fell the same
And I can't help believing there's another
You've been whispering in your dreams

Holding you is like holding a stranger
We becoming strangers and girl it's killing me
You ask me to believe that it's not over
But how can I believe in you when you be leaving me
