Everybody always knew she belonged to him
Since kinder garden they were best of friends.
Their parents called it puppie love
But puppies know the deal Jamie and jen knew it was real.

Her first day with glasses on jen wouldn't go to school
Jamie showed up at her door grinning like a fool
In his Daddy's horn rims she laughed until she cried
He said let them call us both four eyes

(Chorus)

And he said God made your Mother so you would always have a friend
Your sister and brother to fight with now and then God made your Father to show you what a man should be
And he knew you'd need someone to always love you that's why God made me

Her senior year of high school they drifted apart
They both experienced their first broken heart
Jen met a new boy made a bad mistake
She hasn't seen him since that day She waited for her Mom and Dad to come home from work
She didn't know her best friend called Jamie first He showed up at her door and said I know things look bad
Why don't we tell them im the Dad?

(Chorus)

In five years they've added to their family and the one who dont look much like jamie last night at bed time he said where did I come from?
I dont look like the babies, I dont look like you and mom

(Chorus)

god made your father and thats who ill never be but he knew you would need someone to always love you..thats why God made me
