that ever loved her

my tears fell down
like falling rain
but they can't wash away the pain how will I go to sleep
without her in my arms
she never meant to break my heart but how my world was torn apart
by the hand
that held the pen
that wrote the words
that broke the heart
of the one
the only one

with one stroke of the pen she wrote off all my dreams erasing all those plans
we made together
theres no one
that I can blame
oh but how my world was changed
by the hand
that wrote the words
that broke the heart
the only one
who ever loved her

oh the one
the only one
who ever loved her
