Our love's grown older seems like it's colder

Than the rock so which I carved your name

On down the road we walk in separate shadows

Now there's nowhere else to go

And when we read the book of time

We'll see that we were blind but tried to understand

Chorus:

War of words, no one survives

These words of war cut deep inside

War of words the truth, the lies

These words of war hurt more and more. ..more and more

I thought our love would never end like letters in the sand

Our passion's washed away and so the tide rolls in again

With the morning storm brings another cloudy day

It's getting harder day by day

To believe that we can stay together baby

Chorus: (repeat)

I guess the dream that love has kept alive

Couldn't last forever though we tried...how we tried
