I must be blind if I can't see
Which part of me is you, and which part of you is me
We two are bound
Whipped by the wind
We bend near to the ground but
Oh! how we bend back again
I can't tell which life is mine
You and I are so intertwined
I should have seen right from the start
That little girl's gonna break your heart
They say love is the great divide
I hope we make it to the other side
They say love is the great divide
I hope we make it to the other side
In this fading light it's hard to see
What will become of you
What has become of me
Who did we burn
Who did we save
What did we learn between the cradle and the grave
We've done this dance before
A house divided, a civil war
She plays the part and you roll the dice
But that little girl still saved your life
They say love is the great divide
I hope we make it to the other side
They say love is the great divide
I hope we make it to the other side
I'll never be lonely
As long as you own me
Firelight, hold back the night
Never gonna be easy to watch it die
I'll never be lonely
As long as you own me
I fan the flames and you push the knife
That little girl still saved your life
They say love is the great divide
I hope we make it to the other side
They say love is the great divide
I hope we make it to the other side
They say love is the great divide
I hope we make it to the other side

They say love is the great divide
I hope we make it to the other side.
