The air tonight is rarefied
It's all I need the air I breathe

You're burnin' all my bridges baby
Set your sights as low as they can go
That much I know

You take up all my time little woman
You take up all my time
You say your sun don't shine little honey
You want a piece of mine

The air is thin up here little darling
The air is thin up here
But I won't shed no tears little sister
I won't shed no tears

You're burnin' all my bridges baby
Set your sights as low as they can go
That much I know

You say you won't be a friend of mine
But you can't be my lover
'Cause you take up all my time
Yea

'Cause you take up all my time
Yea , yea
'Cause you take up all my time

The clock says five a.m. little honey
The clock says five a.m.
But you're just comin' in little sister
You're just comin' in

The air is thin up here little darling
The air is thin up here
But I won't shed no tears little honey
I won't shed no tears

You're burnin' all my bridges baby
Set your sights as low as they can go

That much I know

You say you won't be a friend of mine
But you'll never be my lover
'Cause you take up all my time
Yea
