I can't see though my eyes are wide open
I feel like something inside was stolen
I can't face the screen it's glaring at me everyday
I refuse to believe that my future depends on
Corporate Earnings
I don't give a fuck!

Is the means to an end
Does this mean that I must pretend
That I can see my future
It grows cloudy everyday
I can't "hope" forever
Something has to change

Some days I feel like I'm loosing myself
I can hold much longer
No, I can't live this life

They take apart of me [x2]

Hands around my throat
Growing stronger everyday
I struggle not to choke
I feel the will inside me fade away
I can't give up,
Give anymore of myself away

Now this means that I have reached the end
This is my dream and I'm done pretending

Now I will have to kill part of myself
I will hold on to the desires that drive me

The desires that drive me
