A million miles apart from you
Can you see the sun and the sky that's so blue?
Have you ever been this so alone?
Desperations building and it's all what's left for me.

From the moment you left
Until the moment you return
Now we're back at the scene
I can now wake up from this dream.

I hope to hear your voice saying everything
As it slowly tangles up my fragile heart
I can't also take these feelings deep inside
I miss you more and more, I know it won't subside.

I want to go back
And live my dreams with you
Now I have returned
I can now wake up from this dream.

Did you know that I've been missing hearts?
Can't wait till you come back.
Wherever you go I'll come with you
Just promise to never let go.
