Another caffeinated weekend.
And we don't even need a reason.
Doing things we'll probably regret
Work all day then do them again.

We're never going out of style
'Cause we're all living in denial
Take a shot and you'll be alright,
Your body's numb but you're still alright

Rest with the siren right next to your head
Don't waste a second, you'll sleep when you're dead.
When the sun finally sets,
We commence with the trainwreck
Pregame at ten then pretend that we're famous.
Let go, when you know it feels so right
We'll go off the rails tonight.

Just keep the moon on the horizon.
Breathe it in close your eyes and
All the things will come to an end
But here and now it's time to pretend.

We're never going out of style.
So take a picture now while we're
Doing things we'll probably regret
But everyday we'll do them again.

Rest with the siren right next to your head
Don't waste a second, you'll sleep when you're dead.
When the sun finally sets,
We commence with the train wreck
Pregame at ten then pretend that we're famous.
Let go, when you know it feels so right
We'll go off the rails tonight.

(Whoa oh) Another day soak up the sun.
(Whoa oh) Another night, the train wreck's begun.
Another day I don't want this time or this feeling to ever be done.

When the sun finally sets,

We commence with the train wreck
Pregame at ten then pretend that we're famous.
Let go, when you know it feels so right
We'll go off the rails tonight.

(Another day, soak up the sun. Another night, the train wreck's begun)
And we'll go off the rails tonight.
