

Sandy Coast "The Eyes Of Jenny"

Visit "The Eyes Of Jenny" on MotoLyrics.com

Jenny was only nine years old, kid sister of someone I know and she was pretty, ooh yes, she was She was a gorgeous little girl, happiest thing in the whole wide world and she was pretty, ooh yes, she was And then I left the place to become a man and I never thought I'd see her again and I even failed remembering her name
But the other night at the Studio '54, she came suddenly walking through the front door and she settled down in my mind again

I can live for another thousand years when I see the eyes of Jenny
Feels like I'm sailing to another place, another time
There ain't no more worries, no more fears when I see the eyes of Jenny
It's like they take me to where she knows, I'll find a little piece of mind

She told me she's almost twenty-five, been through some struggle and some strive and she is pretty, ooh, like she was
It's not the colour, not the size, guess it's the promise in those eyes that makes her pretty, ooh, like she was And then I left the place and became a man, I don't know if I'll ever see her again but I'll always be remembering her name
'Cause the other night at the Studio '54, she came suddenly walking through the front door and she
settled down in my mind again

I can live for another thousand years when I see the
eyes of Jenny
Feels like I'm sailing to another place, another time
There ain't no more worries, no more fears when I see
the eyes of Jenny
It's like they take me to where she knows, I'll find a little
piece of mind

Visit Sandy Coast page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

