

Daughter Darling "Broken Bridge"

Visit "Broken Bridge" on MotoLyrics.com

All my rooms are filled with musty dust
Time has taken all that I possess
I never know if to laugh or to scream
To hate or to believe

How could you walk across that broken bridge
All their eyes followed as you so gracefully lived
And I tossed myself behind your feet
You cursed me

Falling through your sphere
All I know is you and here
Your tongue is fire when you speak
But you make me sing
Your love makes me sing

All my spaces are filled with you
With all the colors in the world yours had to be blue
And I'm breaking through your shameless ways
I can't refrain

Your hair is messy
Your frown is soft
You try to be harsh but you know you're so loved
I will toss myself down at your will
You know you kill
Falling through your sphere

All I know is you and here
Your tongue is fire when you speak
But you make me sing
Your love makes me sing

How could you walk across that broken bridge

Visit Daughter Darling page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.