How did it get into your head
That it'd be better if you left?
Was it something that I said?
Am I someone you regret?

Before you run away
There's something I wanna say
Before you go I think you should know
I think you should know that

I'm alone and I'm afraid
That you could make me feel this way
Is there something that I could change?
A way to make you want to stay?

I can't live without you
But now I'll never know
When you're not there to talk to
But now I'm on my own

You said you needed time to think
I wish you'd spend some time with me

Before you run away
There's something I wanna say
Before you go I think you should know
I think you should know that

I'm alone and I'm afraid
That you could make me feel this way
Is there something that I could change?
A way to make you want to stay?

I can't live without you
But now I'll never know
When you're not there to talk to
But now I'm on my own
