"Hold On"

Don't rush me, just this once, I want To make this moment last, slow down the pace
There's no hurry, I can't let another pass me by again
Let me be the one to say when I've had enough

Just let me close my eyes, memorize the way Things are this minute, so when you're gone I can go on
If memory can hold within it what I'm feeling Should time try fading or stealing something away

Hold on, nothing's the same, tell me why I feel this way
Life wouldn't be worth living without you All along I've been the pretender but now that's gone forever
Nobody's ever loved me like you do, nobody broken through

Got to concentrate, file away every last detail
Don't want to lost what's going down
I want to remember everything I'm feeling
Should time try fading or stealing something away

Hold on, nothing's the same, tell me why I feel this way
Life wouldn't be worth living without you
All along I've been the pretender but now that's gone
forever, yeah
Nobody's ever loved me like you do, nobody's broken through

Nobody's ever loved like you, nobody's broken through Nobody's ever loved like you, nobody's ever loved like you

Hold on, nothing's the same, tell me why I feel this way
Life wouldn't be worth living without you
All along I've been the pretender but now that's gone
forever, yeah
Nobody's ever loved me like you do

Hold on, nothing's the same, tell me why I feel this way
Life wouldn't be worth living without you

All along I've been the pretender but now that's gone
forever, yeah
Nobody's ever loved me like you do

Hold on, nothing's the same, tell me why I feel this way
Life wouldn't be worth living without you
