You don't need no intuition
All you need is a beating heart, beating heart
Ain't no math you need to figure
Nothing here you can pick apart

Does it feel good to you, baby?
Does it feel good to you, baby?
'Cause it feels like it should
It's gonna feel so good, baby

You're gonna be someone's somebody
You're gonna be somebody's someone
You're gonna be someone's somebody
You're gonna be somebody's someone
Somebody's someone

These nights get so lonely
Just the candles and the moon
But as you're waiting for that someone
Someone's out there waiting for you, baby

It will feel so good to you, baby
It will feel so good to you, baby
'Cause if it feels just like it should
It's gonna feel so good, baby

You're gonna be someone's somebody
You're gonna be somebody's someone
You're gonna be someone's somebody
You're gonna be somebody's someone

It could be winter or summertime
Or the middle of the fall
But nothing will matter then
No, it won't matter at all

You're gonna be somebody's someone
You're gonna be someone's somebody
You're gonna be somebody's someone
Somebody's someone

You're gonna be someone's somebody

You're gonna be somebody's someone
You're gonna be someone's somebody
You're gonna be somebody's someone

You're gonna be someone's somebody
You're gonna be somebody's someone
