Are you feeling fine?
You'll be coming clean tonight
And I'll be falling down with you once again Call me your valentine but call me once tonight
I will then say it's okay
The things you said, I'm rehearsing them
The things you said, I'm rehearsing them
They went back on us and I could know when to come on to it It's the thought that emerges
and I could never love the ion change Bury your head and the shadow smashed you down when this stops you shouldn't call me again (you fall down below) and I'll sleep tonight knowing you're okay
And I will then say it's okay
The things you said, I'm rehearsing them
The things you said, I'm rehearsing them
They went back on us
and I could know when to come on to it It's the thought that emerges
and I could never love the ion change
They have been the ones to see enough
This is what you call love and they stole my lies you right before They wanted to run around all night
They stole my lies Stole it all
They have been the ones to see enough
They went back on us (his eyes rolled back couldn't step it up)
and I could know when to come on to it
It's the thought that emerges (Take back couldn't step it up)
and I could never love the ion change
