

Saosin

"The Perch On Their Stilts Pointing And Daring Me To Break Custom"

Visit "The Perch On Their Stilts Pointing And Daring Me To Break Custom" on MotoLyrics.com

On my leg I scratched out something like a silhouette around the golden ten like lambs on my face I've hidden away any embarrassment, away from my acuteness I'm not sold on anything but half a dream (I'm not sensing a thing)
I see a blank notebook page and it's my life and there is nothing I can think to write I fear the thought of symmetry
I hope you don't see a thing I said, smile through everyone you ever see so what you gave him the time of day twist back (dance around) honestly I give up and the robe right side falls (heaven knows it should be so easy)
the right side because heaven looks gracefully on you I owe you too

Visit Saosin page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.