Run away and play your games
Hide well so I can't find you
I will wait for summer to come
Then laugh as the trees burn down around you

Your body is just a test for me
If I run as fast as I can
The thought of your memory
Will catch up with me, will catch up with me

I'm always late with my words
(I tried so hard, I tried so hard)
I should've told you, but I never really cared
You always misled me

I'm always late with my words
(I tried so hard, I tried so hard)
I should've told you, but I never really cared
(You always misled me)
You always got the worst of me

It's a shame that you're still lying broken here
In this moment, everything just seems so clear
Because her body was just a test, you see

If you run as fast as you can
With the thought of my memory
(Thought of my memory)
Will catch up to me
It will catch up, you see

I'm always late with my words
(I tried so hard, I tried so hard)
I should've told you, but I never really cared
You always misled me

I'm always late with my words
(I tried so hard, I tried so hard)
I should've told you, but I never really cared

When summer will pass, I let go
And if you don't feel me, then just take yourself out

When summer passes, let me go so I can find a meaning to live

I'm always late with my words
(I tried so hard, I tried so hard)
I should've told you, but I never really cared
You always misled me

I'm always late with my words
We tried so hard, We tried so hard
I should've told you, but I never really cared
You always misled me
You always got the worst of me
