I imagine we were made
I imagine we were made
I imagine we were made
I imagine we were

Woke up again, sweating out all the poison
And I feel it again, I know it's coming again
And so I try to make it for an hour or two
But I know in the end, yeah, I know in the end

This place will hit me so hard
This face will end up so hard
Because of you, it's all because of you

I can't carry this all
I can't carry this on my own
Tell me what did I do wrong
'Cause I don't remember anything

And I can't carry this all
I can't carry this on my own
Tell me what did I do wrong
'Cause I can't remember anything

Feels like a bomb going off in my conscience
And I feel it again, I think it's coming again
How can I run away from all of the sadness
When no one's around to tell me where it began?

These steps I climb are so hard
Your voice will hit me so hard
Because of you, it's always because of you

I can't carry this all
I can't carry this on my own
Tell me what did I do wrong
'Cause I don't remember anything

And I can't carry this all
I can't carry this on my own
Tell me what did I do wrong
'Cause I can't remember anything

Now I know the hardest part is letting go
I just cannot be afraid of what's below

And I can't carry this all
I can't carry this on my own
Tell me what did I do wrong
'Cause I don't remember anything

And I can't carry this all
I can't carry this on my own
Tell me what did I do wrong
'Cause I can't remember anything

And I can't carry this all
I can't carry this on my own
Tell me what did I do wrong
I just can't remember anything

I imagine we were made
I imagine we were made
I imagine we were made
I imagine we were made for
