

Sarah Brendel

"Pardon Me"

Visit "Pardon Me" on MotoLyrics.com

Words are flying out like endless rain
Into my wishing well
They speak so clear, they sound so real to me
Grace comes floating like a warm embrace
Of one who loves to love
I turn the page, I burn the rage, I'm free
Pardon me
I've been too weak to make it on my own
Pardon me
I've left the road where mercy is unknown
Now I see your words in beauty rising
Singing love will be the key
Time has not been warned yet
That it drifts on numbered days
I see the mountains pass
The days won't last on through
In the room where you live blessed
I feel my heart is put to rest
The world in which I dance
Lies in your hands
Pardon me
I've been too weak to make it on my own
Pardon me
I've left the road where mercy is unknown
Now I see your words are rising

Visit Sarah Brendel page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.