There's a secret 'bout your love That always keeps me thinking of how we ease each others pain

Only when I feel you near You take away my deepest fear

you put a spell on my heart
but I am not calling for any redemption

And the secret still remains
And I want you not to reveal
How you make feel
How I have been touched by your love

So you keep the key
And I keep on playing my part
Not knowing the game
And the secret will remain

These thoughts they haunt me every night
Visions covering my mind
Cause I know you can't be far

Just the thought that you are mine Makes cold wind shiver down my spine

you put a spell on my heart
but I am not calling for any redemption

And the secret still remains
And I want you not to reveal
How you make feel
How I have been touched by your love

So you keep the key
And I keep on playing my part
Not knowing the game
And the secret will remain
