When you're on your way to the bottom
At least you know where you're going
Even when I'm sinking I feel sad
See, I never let down, and I never let go
I guess that means I'm invisible
And all that time I really missed my pride

I'm living a black hoax
Living a black hoax lie
Wherever you left me
That's where my heart still lies

Once at night where I reside
I laid there still where I want to cry
And I broke the bed and its mattress springs
I told them I'll break the bread
But I'll hog the wine
Gather 'round
Let's forget in time
Oh, I really miss my pride

I'm living a black hoax
Living a black hoax lie
Wherever you left me
That's where my heart still lies
Wherever you left me
That's where my heart still lies
Uh, huh
