My dear I have something for you, to ease the pain.
You have nothing to give and you came up with nothing to gain.

If I was drowning and you saw me slip,
Would you reach for me or let me sink in?

Dear God, it's dark outside, Where did I go wrong
tonight?
I'm begging for a chance to start again and crawling
back towards innocence.

Lovely embrace the end, live so you can die in the end

Late last night, I heard the sound of the man who thought he had it all,
As it slipped through his hands.
I am alive, but I am asleep, and all I need is new eyes,
So I can see.

Dear God, it's dark outside, Where did I go wrong
tonight?
I'm begging for a chance to start again and crawling
back towards innocence.

Just keep telling me to wake up,
Lovely embrace the end.
Awaken.

I know I need every chance I get to breathe,
So I will leave my lungs at the surface to right all of my wrongs.

Dear God, it's dark outside, Where did I go wrong
tonight?
I'm begging for a chance to start again and crawling
back towards innocence.
