Softly these fields they sing their melody to me
Teaching with a heart that seems sincere
And I could use a thousand words but never could compete
With the message that I know is written there It's written everywhere

And the hand of the mercy maker
Painted it on the sky
And the hand of the mercy maker

I fumble with the thoughts I have to try and make some sense
Of the useless drivel I've been letting fly
But I can't form the answers to the questions that I fence
I cannot build the truth out of a lie but I don't have to try

And the hand of the mercy maker
Painted it on the sky
And the hand of the mercy maker

Well, you can try religion, you can try another church
But you can't fake what isn't in your heart
What you don't see 'cause you been lookin' elsewhere on your search
Is that love has been the answer from the start, from the very start

And the hand of the mercy maker
Painted it on the sky
And the hand of the mercy maker
