I keep seeing you at the corner store, waving
Don't know what we've been waiting for, a perfect timing
Think we both want a little more this time
To open the door

Driving around the neighborhood lately
Seeing you around looking good, maybe
Now it's the time to step to you and say baby
I'm feeling you and that's the truth when

When I saw you the first time, I was blown away
Second time I said wait, I like this street
When you believe in destiny
There's no such thing as a coincidence

Did you just hum my favorite song? Girl, that's crazy
Feel something in the air this strong, are you ready?
Can't remember 'cause it's been so long
Since I've had this type of chemistry

So we grew up two miles apart
Baby, hear me when I speak my heart, this is truly
A one of a kind work of art
Thank you, Lord, for blessing me again

When I saw you the first time, I was blown away
Second time I said wait, I like this street
When you believe in destiny
There's no such thing as a coincidence
Say it again

When I saw you the first time, I was blown away
Second time I said wait, I like this street
When you believe in destiny
There's no such thing as a coincidence

And I won't force the issue
As much as I want to pursue you
Girl, it's something when fate has its way
Ain't nothing we can do about it, babe

When I saw you the first time, I was blown away
Second time I said wait, I like this street
When you believe in destiny
There's no such thing as a coincidence

When I saw you the first time, I was blown away
Then second time I said wait, I like this street
When you believe in destiny
There's no such thing as a coincidence
