I made so many mistakes
I made so many mistakes
I made so many mistakes
I made so many mistakes

Maybe I broke your heart into many pieces
And then your blood and veins coolly freezes
Maybe I'm a liar
But that wasn't my desire

You know I always take it away from you
Couse I got to stop telling you what to do
I got to stop pretending to be the king
Maybe someday it will change everything

It's to late to apolizise
It's too late to recognize
It's too late to sympathize
It's too late to keep a surprise

I made so many mistakes
I made so many mistakes
I made so many mistakes
I made so many mistakes

So many mistake I made
I stopped keeping track
And don't even
Get me started on that

And I always crossed the line
It feels like I have to pay a fine
That I don't get to see you
Every single night

It's to late to apolizise
It's too late to recognize
It's too late to sympathize
It's too late to keep a surprise

I made so many mistakes
I made so many mistakes

I made so many mistakes
I made so many mistakes

I made mistakes more than the last number
It all started last summer
Now you are gone what a bummer
Now I feel a lot dumber

It's too late to apologize
It's too late to recognize
It's too late to sympathize
It's too late to keep a surprise

I made so many mistakes
I made so many mistakes
I made so many mistakes
I made so many mistakes
