Just slow down, just slow down now,
There's some things we just have to figure out Pull your head down from the clouds and come back down
We'll stick your feet to the fucking ground

Did you forget about all the times we had Wearing smiles with nothing on our backs

It's not just the years in your life that count,
But the life that's in your years

Just calm down, just calm down now
I'm not saying you shouldn't make this count Just remember where your from, who you were and have become
Because in the end it's all about the fun
