Here we stand underneath a blood red sky
To seek the answer we're all looking for
We live our lives but there's no certainty
They won't be washed away like castles in the sand

We're still searching for Atlantis
We're all looking for our shangrila
Searching for Atlantis

Looking back you can't change a thing
In your mind there lies the key
There's many doors that you've been passing through
Down the winding road towards your xanadu

We're still searching for Atlantis
We're all looking for our shangrila
Searching for Atlantis

You walk the path towards your destiny
Through twists and turns to reach your journey's end
We build our lives but there's no certainty
They won't be washed away like castles in the sand

We're still searching for Atlantis
We're all looking for our shangrila
We're still searching for Atlantis
We're all looking for our shangrila
