Can I be with you tonight?
I don't have a reason for asking Thought of walking around it, thought of running into you

But I were to tired of that I have been doing to much of that Even you wanna see me, but you don't wanna see me

If you want to, yes I think I want you to like that You always fell when you were a child
You need some bruises to know you're alive
And though I know you might agree, just be polite
Can I be with you tonight?

Can I walk real close to you and have your shoulder brush against my arm?
I wont offense you or anything but I am warm you are shivering
All the talk about the weather and how it's changing could we not do that?
All about me and you and what could happen, could we jump right to that?
And if your friends pass us by just to see how it goes
They will think we're in love
Can I walk that close?

When an hour has passed or two
Can we then go to a bar?
Watch the game at Dovas without watching the game at Dovas
Can I touch the soft part of your arm
Just when Finland seems to be winning?
Can we buy another beer like we do in my parts of Sweden?
And we can't find the words to wanting to stay where we are Just like this
Can we go to a bar?

When I'm with you my voice seems too loud
