Frost on your windscreen today
Gives me a new chance to say
I adore you, so I draw you
A little heart, there on the glass

The mercury continues to fall
But I don't feel coldness at all
Because tonight I'll hold you tight
And wrap the most beautiful gift

Ooh, the shorter days make longer nights
Ooh, and the darker skies frame brighter lights

Your endless warmth and loving glow
Melt my heart like sun-kissed snow
My Christmas angel, you should know
You melt my heart like sun-kissed snow

This mistletoe moonlight season
Provides me with one more reason
To renew my wish that we'll share this
And each precious year to come

When we reach our winter years
I'll kiss away your frozen tears
We'll dance once more, just you and me
In swirling snowflake confetti

Ooh, the shorter days make longer nights
Ooh, and the darker skies frame brighter lights

Your endless warmth and loving glow
Melt my heart like sun-kissed snow
My Christmas angel, you should know
You melt my heart like sun-kissed snow
