Visit "Fortify" on MotoLyrics.com the smell of piss and shame gives new life to this lifeless place but there's something about the stench and these walls my head cocks back and my cells respond and though recoiled, I may be this place always relived in memory could you ever conceive this by looking at me you stupid bitches couldn't see through these clothes

Think of me...
An Element...
Of design...

but still your tone is sharp and your words can cut like a knife so here I am, please cut me down again I am the one who will get up once more fortified by what you want from me tingled deep through finger tips your touch reminds me of this place but there's something about your aura and your skin your head cocks back and your nose turns up at me and so I try to break away from this hell that you call life you could never conceive these things by looking at me you stupid bitches couldn't see through this skin

I'll change never change my mind of who I am inside fall away from and taste what I am
