There's a burning question in my heart
I see the answer in your eyes
An uneasy feeling without you
There's only peace by your side
Our hearts survive the cold world outside
Somehow this love keeps us alive

I feel it in the morning
I feel it all through the day
I feel the heartache slowly slipping away
Slowly slipping away

We've had our share of confusion
We've been let down so many times before
But what we've found is a real love
No need so search anymore - no
Somehow we weather the storms in our lives
This love has never been a lie

I feel it in the morning
I feel it all through the day
I feel the heartache slowly slipping away
Slowly slipping away

We will survive the cold world outside
Somehow this love keeps us alive

I feel it in the morning
I feel it all through the day
I feel the heartache slowly slipping away
Slowly slipping away
