"City In The Sea"

She covered me warm
And he hangs his head in grace
The devoted meets the blasphemous
Oh woman you must be brave
For the both of us
Oh woman you must be brave
Fire out your faith and trust
I wanted to unite the city and the sea
And at last make our lives complete
She covered me warm
And he hangs his head in grace
The devoted meets the blasphemous
Oh woman you are not to blame
I have nothing left to loathe
Oh woman you are not to blame
I felt as black as your lie
I wanted to unite the city and the sea
And at last make our lives complete
I wanted to unite the city and the sea
