You're so damaged but you manage to handle it well.
Throw us all against the wall now see if we stick.
I've been thinking bout leaving but no one can tell you what to do.
Now it's all on you.

Oh I bet these lips taste like treason.
There is a reason you're still here.
It's becoming even clearer by the minute.
I bet your kiss tastes like poison
but it keeps all the boys on the street
oh so interested and weak yeah.

And if I ever found the fabric from which you were cut.
I would cut it to pieces and slam the door shut it shut it.
Keep that line to your self. So you say I wasn't really giving enough.
Well that's life and it's tough. But you know it's still on you.

Oh I bet these lips taste like treason.
There is a reason you're still here.
It's becoming even clearer by the minute.
I bet your kiss tastes like poison
but it keeps all the boys on the street
oh so interested and weak yeah.

Hey now listen if you see that girl coming you better hit the ground running away.
But I know that if you're more than likely like me
then you'll try and learn it the hard way.

Oh I bet these lips taste like treason.
There is a reason you're still here.
It's becoming even clearer by the minute.
I bet your kiss tastes like poison
but it keeps all the boys on the street
oh so interested and weak yeah.
