I'm in love with the sunshine
I'm in love with the falling rain
Everything seems to call your name
Yesterday you were leaving
Leaving life for all it's pain
Everything wants you back again

I found myself through you
When there was love in my life
I thought I was always meant to be high
And my life was made whole
But now my mind has started to roam
You're my life's only fire
Through you I was inspired Helped me carry all my load
You're engraved deep within my heart

My dreams recall us being warm
I search for you to be free
The force of life you have always been
I feel blue since you've gone
Your breath of love surrounded me
When can I rejoin you to be free

When I lay there dreaming, there's a voice in my head
It belongs to you, and it says
There's no need to be sad, there's a way to stay with you again
It's more than you ever had. And though death keeps us apart
All the time this love always grows, because you are my only one

I know even though we've been apart, your love's inspired to my heart
We'll burn the shy when it's time for me to die
We'll burn the sky
