Music: Rudolf Schenker

Lyrics: Klaus Meine

Leaving through the back door

Freezing in the cold

Communication breakdown

Emotional overload

Been through a wall of fire

Now I feel like the ashes glow

Cars passing on the freeway

My mind is on the run

I keep running from my shadow

I'm not the only one

Somewhere in the distance

Someone's taking flight

Destination unknown

Just fade into the light

There's so much said and done

But after all

The time has come, to leave it all

Behind

If you could see it through my eyes

You'd know I tried to change it all

I've been trying all my life

To stand up every time I fall

If you could see it through my eyes

I feel sadness up my spine

The future on my hands

I'm standing here alone

With open arms again

Tomorrow ain't no stranger

There'll be a lucky star

And love will find it's way

Into someone's heart

Too late for tears

No time to be confused

It's just the echo of our

Swan song

If you could see it through my eyes
You'd know I tried to change it all
I've been trying all my life
To stand up every time I fall
If you could see it through my eyes
You'd see that love will always wait
Somewhere out there is my life
A new love that comes my way
If you could see it through my eyes
Through my eyes

What was meant to be forever
Is breaking all apart
What was meant to be forever
Leaves the hole inside my heart
What was meant to be forever
We throw it all away
What was meant to be forever
Was nothing but a game
What was meant to be forever
Is breaking all apart
What was meant to be forever
