It was fun being a baby
They could never catch me
I was with the wind outside, oh where it took me.

and the wind came, you were in it pulling at my sleeve,
I could feel it.

I walked 12 miles, with each and every step I felt you try to lift me right out of my shoes from where you were.

and the skies they opened and they whispered to me
"you're just here to love it baby, you're just here to join in baby"

Your body needs you
Your limbs they need you Your fingers need you Your beauty needs you I have this body, it means you can touch me and I will feel it
