

Screaming Tea Party "Death Egg"

Your eyes are clearer than before
You have found, it won't be back anymore
Its me who burned the scene of 6 colure
Coz now brings me back previous memories

The birds who are living in the pond
They looked so happy they were laughing
And then I gave them all of my breads and drink I did greetings and farewells at a time

We saw the news on TV
You were laughing
Someone ate the dead egg

Do you remember I laughed too, more than you
But tell you truly, it was about me

At near that smallish bridge
Something was floating I saw
Clay
Egg
or Prostitute
Maybe it was time's particles
