Never took the time to play with you while you were still around
I had to dig a hole and put you and your body underground
I should have shown you I cared while you could still breathe and run
And now you're gone and I miss you even though I was never there

Rest in peace my brother
I remember you my pet Couldn't have survived the days
But in my mind you're now a saint

Others might say it was weird because you weren't a dog You're weren't a pussy or a bird either and I mean an actual cat
A chinchilla with fur that I could have sold for a pair of expensive shoes
But fuck that because you were a true little fuzzy gremlin friend to me

Don't think I don't miss you Cause I do miss that little ball of fur
And he was cool

I miss you
I miss you
Didn't pay enough attention to you while you still lived
But I do miss you
