Morning light on the ground
You're lost hoping to be found
A pretty storm in between a big plan and an iron will
But, no you're never going anywhere with me

Summer lies in the ground
See their faces as they gather round
Crying out in anger and shame
A life spent waiting all in vain

Look what they did to the glow of the sun
Look what they've done to the city when you were gone
But, no you're never going anywhere with me

Such a sad song
The love you had is gone
The story has been told a million times and they're all wrong
If you can prove them wrong they wouldn't act so proud Like you said: "You get what you deserve, well I must have been a devil
'Cause look what they did to the glow of the sun
Look what they did to the city when you were gone
You know I'm never going anywhere without you"

You know I'm never going anywhere
You know I'm never going anywhere
You know I'm never going anywhere
You know I'm never going anywhere
