Down from the balcony somebody flew saying there's nothing here for me and I've got only myself to blame for being the way that I am idiot boy, eating mud you symbolize so much more than you know while the rain was soaking everything, he thought:

Why can't I just finish what I started?
I've been floating upstream since we parted

Brick by brick step by step, oh my god everyone says you're hanging your head lower now well it's a beautiful day to fade away, to take a stand and show them all you're not just one more common man and idiot rules/idiot rule that's the only thing that will never change that will never fade

So why can't I just finish what I started?

I've been floating upstream since we parted
