I tried to reproduce a feeling never born and guide myself beyond my bellyache and worries
now that you've got me
how can you love me?
when ever I fall down Never a bottom

but there are days, moments, years
-you never want to see them again all things you fear
-you never want to see them again...

I gave you time, more time than I had in my hands for you to come down from whatever place you'd been
-now that I've got you how can I love you?
If ever you fall down, I'll fall with you to the bottom and there are names, faces, roads

-you never want to see them again just everything, you know
-you never want to see them again...

and you know if this story should end in trouble just like it always does when they tie me to this place and lease me
I don't know if I'll get up again.
I don't know if I'll get up again

the funeral is over and everybody's gone I waited long, I waited too long now you'll forget me you'll never get me and every time I fall down I can't see the bottom without you
