

David And The Citizens "New Direction"

Visit "New Direction" on MotoLyrics.com

I put my finger on the pain it was nothing, it was just the smell after the rain it was nothing, it was just the warm ground beneath my feet I put my finger on the pain
it was nothing, it was just the shadow of her ghost, it was nothing it was just the feeling that most things are ugly that most things are ugly round here
- did I ever take my eyes off the horizon? lead the way from this place and point me out a new direction everyone keep saying I'll be fine, fine, fine I wonder if I'll wake one day to find my life waisted behind me

I took a peek into the sun to see if it was true what the blind girl said:
"if you look long enough, you will see the dead coming down..." I took a look into her eyes, I saw nothing but the sky and everlasting love and the feeling I've been blinded ever since the day I was brought here, ever since the day I was brought to this place

Did I ever take my mind off something dirty? always out of range. but I'll be feeling like this 'til I drop dead, and everyone keep saying a lie is just a lie, lie, lie just hope that I can fool myself, then I know I'll be alright so lead the way from this place and point me out a new direction

