I held my breath
Waiting for you to come back from the living dead
I rehearsed my speech
I thought of every word that I meant to say
And then the day never came

We took the elevator
Straight up to heaven, up to hell
The difference is hard to tell
When you visit them in the proper place

Could it be true what grandpa whispered?
They've got bugs in the radiators
Could they really be so vicious
All stories made me suspicious, Paulie

Yes, it's the work of evil minds
And it's all you'll ever find
So keep your stubborn ways
'Cause one day no one remembers you

Paulie, Paulie - I love you, I love you

And it's all the same
Everytime you return you find nothing is changed
And it doesn't matter
To bring out the dead let your memories leave you head

Paulie, Paulie - I love you, I love you
