"It's just you and you daddy
Sitting in the car, waiting for mummy
Both of them can be real cruel
Both of them exactly what you don't wanna be
I know what you mean

And everybody's so God damn perfect
"Blah, blah, blah.." How many times have you heard it?
When they look they don't see the picture
When they look they don't see the picture
They see the frame

And I could scream, I could be quiet
I could go black like a winter night
I could be scared, I could play cool
But I could never have you back

It's just you and your whole world
Still it feels like nothing
So angry you will never pass
So angry, just dying for your millionth chance
But your millionth chance has gone away
Your millionth chance has gone away
I look but I only see the frame

And I could scream, I could be quiet
I could go black like a winter night
I could be scared, I could play cool
But I could never have you back
