Cellophane flowers never happened for me
I've been sleeping the day off
Watching the night fall
Covering nowhere
Filling my time share

There's a woman in the mirror in a fiery state
As she motions to me I start turning away
She's lifting her dress up
Trying to keep up

You'd be surprised how we race
While our lives erased

Another alone on an everyday night
Thinking the morning
Looking for alright
Warming the blood flow with poison
I don't know why

Maybe the rain will stop following me
Dripping the colors
Running the daylight
Over the cloud burst
Hoping it don't burst

Right before my eyes
Erased, our lives erased

We know we're lost in nowhere now
Now we know we're lost in nowhere now

Maybe the rain will stop following me
With millions of colors reflected in daylight
Right on the kick drum, turning the sound up

Another alone on an everyday night
I think in the morning, I think I'll be alright
Watching the blood flow
No wonder I don't know why
There's a woman in the mirror in a fiery state
She motions to me--I start pulling away

She's lifting her dress up--all the way up
Don't look surprised
Erased, our lives erased
