You feed this disease which you shelter underneath the scars

And dream of better things rendered helpless by those wicked charms

But please don't believe when I say it's hard to breathe

Save me

Even as you break me

Every time you rape me

Leave me coming all undone

Praise me

Turn your back and hate me

Every time you waste me

Keep me underneath your thumb

You bleed on the sheets, whisper softly how you love the stars

Then plead on your knees, pledge your promises to do no harm

But please just let me be, I still find it hard to breathe

Save me

Even as you break me

Every time you rape me

Leave me coming all undone

Praise me

Turn your back and hate me

Every time you waste me

Keep me underneath your thumb

Save me

Even as you break me

Every time you rape me

Leave me coming all undone

Praise me

Turn your back and hate me

Every time you waste me

Keep me underneath your thumb

Save me
Don't turn your back and break me
Every time you rape me
Leave me coming all undone
