Now wake up

everybody tries to be straight but things are still unchanged it's useless to resist their effort will be waste head straight for your goal by any means there is a door that you never opened there is a window with a view you have never seen get there no matter how long it takes all of the darkness that dozes in the dark throw it all away

no-one can break you no-one can tear you you live a endless life forever
throw it all away
you see a light where-ever you go you have to face it again and again.... yeah
