Satelites are turning
Television's burning
Shine on water
Does it really matter?

And if violence make the waves flow
I will break every bone in your body
And if silence make the wind blow
I will listen to the beat of your frozen heart

The temperature is rising now
The talking waters are running dry
The lips are sealed - no thoughts revealed
And some will always say
There is a reason for everything
The love we made - the gifts i gave
The sun still shines for yesterday
And all my plastic angels
Are falling from the sky
Though all i've done was ever wrong
The ships are sailing - love has gone
So now it's down to me
And all i want is felicity
