I told I told I told myself again
I'm never running back on world I said
Trying not to roam but you're so far away
So far away
Won't listen to the conscious in my head
I'm conscious but I'm lonely, half way dead
Tired of the things you never said
You never said

Our love was made to rule the world
You came and broke the perfect girl
Our love was made to rule the world
Our love was made to rule the world
You left me wanting what we were
Our love was made to rule the world

Forget forever, forget forever
Forget you ever knew my name, my name, my name,
my name

I know I know I know we can pretend
Though we were never lovers in the end
I try to tell myself this pain would go away
Just go away

Our love was made to rule the world
You came and broke the perfect girl
Our love was made to rule the world
Our love was made to rule the world
You left me wanting what we were
Our love was made to rule the world

Forget forever, forget forever
Forget you ever knew my name, my name, my name,
my name
Forget forever
