Sense Field Nothing Between Us this house with the love of everyone and the love of everything and I still lose to myself when I'm with you I talk to you for hours I watch you swing and I watch your body shifting you've seen me like this before I know that look, I know this feeling what would you like me to do? what would you like? I want to I think I know what you need to hear no we don't have to say there's nothing between you and me no need to say a thing let me just say I love this there's no need to say anything there's really no need to explain with your hair wet your body trying to dry these heavy eyes, these restless hands with your weight on me, will you wait with me and I know of a place where we can go perfectly designed for every moce the little lights go around the room and the talk of the after life there's nothing between you and me exactly written with every word and I swear that you swore that you know you'd talked me into it no we don't have to stay and we didn't know we could even get this close no need to say a thing no need to say a thing there's nothing between you and me there's not need to say anything no we don't have to stay there's no need to say anything there's nothing between you and me no we don't have to stay there's nothing between you and me no need to say a thing no need to say a thing there's really no need to explain there's no need to say anything me with you let me just say I love this me with you me with you
